This presentation will summarize the results of research examining a secondary prevention, family-centred, positive behaviour support (FCPBS) program for parents of young children with Down syndrome, some of whom also had autism spectrum disorder. The session will describe the 14-week group parent training program and will also outline universal FCPBS strategies that are broadly applicable to families of young children with developmental disabilities who engage in mild-to-moderate problem behaviour. Techniques for facilitating group parent training sessions will also be discussed.

This event will be recorded and posted on the CIRCA website at a later date; see <https://circa.educ.ubc.ca/media/> for past colloquia
